Great. Grandma's lost her teeth. She’s looked everywhere and can't find them. It’s dinnertime; she really needs those teeth! She asks you for help.

Now What?

You walk in the door and you see that your younger brother is acting out. In a major way. And the yelling and crying just seems to be getting louder. This isn’t good, you need to study!

Now What?

Your mom has been babysitting for a young child. Today she can’t do it and needs some help. She asks you to babysit today. Hope you know what to do with a two-year-old!

Now What?

Your dad says that he could really use some help with completing some much needed yard work and asks you to give him a hand. He’ll even pay you if you do a good job. You agree. Your dad says, “Great! Let’s get started.”

Now What?

Your mom has had it with being the only one around the house who does any chores! She tells you that she’s putting you in charge for a week because she needs a break! The chores can’t just go left undone for a week! You’re in charge. You will have to figure it out.

Now What?

It’s Friday afternoon and you get home to find a letter waiting for you from your mom: “Your dad and I are taking a short trip. We’re putting you in charge of taking care of the house and your brothers and sisters. Sorry for the short notice! We’ll be back Sunday evening.” You look at your watch to find that it’s 3:00 pm; your brothers and sisters will be home shortly after 3:30 pm!

Now What?

You loaned your friend a DVD, but he hasn’t given it back yet and it’s already been three weeks!

Now What?

You’re trying to watch a movie, but your sister won’t stop bugging you. You’ve already tried ignoring her, but that’s just not working.

Now What?

You want to use the computer, but your brother is using it, and he doesn’t seem to be getting off any time soon.

Now What?

You’re at the mall and you see an awesome pair of shoes priced at $99.00. You have $70.00.

Now What?